Week Report 0

Summary of Presentation: Introduction to CIS 106

Linux is an Operating System that is free and can be fully customizable. Moreover, this class will use Slack rather than regular email. The course requires a desktop running Linux and a Raspberry Pi. Also, it is suggested that labs, discussion boards, weekly report, and weekly project assignment. GitHub is used as a code hosting platform to share and work with different people. Furthermore, Markdown is used to format plain text that is used by other technologies.

My github account

Final Project Research: Pick a project

1. Build a portable Hacking Machine with a Raspberry Pi and Kali Linux.
2. Build a Tor Route.
3. Build a small lab to simulate packet sniffing with Kali Linux and Wireshark.